Community Partnership Referrals and Resources (CPRR), a culturally aware, community-based human services agency, serving the Tri-state area. CPRR serves individuals with special needs including: prevention or intervention counseling, domestic violence, parenting skills, anger and stress management, alcohol/ substance abuse, and mental health disorders.

CPRR Mission

CPRR seeks to foster the growth, development and recovery of community members who suffer from chemical dependency, alcohol/ substance abuse, and/or mental illness as well as behavioral and educational issues.

CPRR seeks to empower conflicted, disadvantaged and disenfranchised communities. By providing the necessary skills through counseling, education, socialization, motivation, and the treatment of maladaptive behaviors, CPRR will help individuals, families, and youth take control of their lives and function productively in today's society.

CPRR Philosophy

Clients thrive when they receive customized treatment in their own communities, where they avail themselves of a multitude of resources enabling them to improve their health and well being.

Our Overview

Building on two decades of professional and educational experience coupled with our forensic ATI expertise, CPRR focuses on individuals, couples and family units with alcohol/ substance abuse, mental health, behavioral, criminal justice, domestic violence, parenting skills, anger and stress management, HIV/AIDS, etc.

CPRR includes non-profit affiliates: Misunderstood Youth Development Center (MYDC) – New York based - which offers peer-oriented and related youth programs; The Help Center Organization (Help) – New York based - which reaches out to assist immigrants and new Americans; R.E.A.L. Families II - New Jersey based – which provides 24-hour short-term residential services to homeless single men and women, pregnant women and domestic violence victims; and LIVING NEW Inc. - New Jersey based – which provides intensive outpatient detoxification and related services.

Dedicated to the communities it services, through these initiatives and linkages with over 300 programs and services, clients receive individualized, custom tailored therapeutic treatment (including one-on-one and group sessions, educational seminars and workshops). CPRR's professional staff works to employ innovative methodologies that enable clients to produce significant actions that lead to healthy, long-term results.

Why CPRR

CPRR blends programs with traditional and state-of-the-art treatment plans and therapies to stay on top of all new trends and developments. This unique style of programming provides clients with acute and tailored intervention services. The integrated discipline best meets the needs of referral sources, including the Criminal Justice System and various government and non-government agencies. CPRR's full array of professional case management services and counseling techniques follow best practice and research. This puts CPRR in the forefront of full-service counseling, case management and educational services.
